

CORA Coaching-Programm

Coaching Women for Research and Academia

Call for Applications

The University Freiburg offers the CORA coaching program under the auspices of the Department for Equity, Diversity and Academic Personnel Development for excellent women researchers who have completed the PhD, women postdocs, assistant professors, and group leaders from all faculties.

A requirement for participation is the intention to qualify for a career as a professor or in another leadership position in research and academia.

The CORA coaching program foresees individual coaching as well as exclusive trainings, motivation via regular meetings of the peer group, and the building-up of a network of women researchers.
